

ABSTRACT

Samples from an addressed data forwarding devices, such as a router, are associated with path-centric information. Information from the samples and/or the path-centric information is used to aggregated traffic information, such as flow information for example, for use by traffic analysis operations.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED IS UNCLASSIFIED